WHAT IS AIKIDO?

Aikido is a powerful and graceful martial art that relies on blending with the opponents force (Ki) rather than on physical strength to deal with an attack. The literal meaning of Aikido is 'the way of harmony with the universe'. Aikido is a vigorous physical activity that fosters calmness and attention, improves fitness, enhances personal safety and is enjoyable and rewarding to learn.

The dynamic movements of Aikido will increase fitness as well as improve body and mind co-ordination. The body becomes more supple and agile, as you become more aware of how to apply the efficient physical principles of Aikido. Regular practice will develop greater sensitivity and attention to action in the moment while remaining calm and centred, you will improve posture and sense of balance and gain an increased self-confidence. You will learn a range of techniques using locks, holds, throws and strikes to respond to various forms of attack, while also learning to receive such techniques safely. There is no need to have a high level of physical fitness or any martial arts experience to begin. Wear loose comfortable clothing that covers knees and elbows to your first class.

Our dojo in Hawthorn is a permanent and professional Aikido training centre, providing a quality matted area for aikido, self-defence and boxing for fitness and other related activities. Aiki-Centre maintains a Covid safe environment, it is advised that participants do not attend training if they are unwell.

Aiki-Centre is an independent dojo with the benefit of having associate and friendship links across the broader Aikido community and styles. Aiki-Centre is a member of the Australian Jujitsu Federation Inc. Chief instructor Catherine Schnell Sensei holds the rank of 6th Dan and has 40 years experience in Aikido. In 1997 Catherine Sensei was the first Australian female martial artist to be inducted into the Australasian World Martial Arts Hall of Fame and was awarded Aikido Instructor of the Year.

AIKI-TEENS classes for young people and teens offers the opportunity to gain the physical and mental benefits of Aikido in a fun and enthusiastic learning environment structured specifically for their needs. Our approach is to encourage children to utilise and enhance their natural ability to blend and move, and to develop co-operativeness with each other. In addition to learning the principles and techniques of Aikido we also include practical and clear personal safety skills, such as verbal assertiveness, conflict resolution and personal safety advice including online and cyber safety for young people. We reinforce the view that fighting is not self defence.
